She

ZOEgirl

She grew up without very much
She didn't know who her father was
She met a boy and her heart he stole
So she gave him all her body and her soulShe's not ready to face
The outcome of their mistake
It's brought her nothing but pain
And she's too young for this fateShe's alone
Could have been the undertow
Where it takes her no one knows
That's how it goes, that's how it goes
When we throw stonesPeople deny and criticize
They sent her away isolated
Caught in a bad dream
Perfectly rejected
They left her alone and neglectedThey put her out on display
Showcasing all her mistakes
She's worn out and she's afraid
Why does it always happen this way?She's alone
Could have been the undertow
Where it takes her no one knows
That's how it goes, that's how it goes
When we throw stonesShe went to them for help
But blindly they cast the first stone
They could have taken her in Instead they left her on her own
All aloneShe's alone
Could have been the undertow
Where it takes her no one knows
That's how it goes, that's how it goesShe's alone
Could have been the undertow
Where it takes her no one knows
That's how it goes, that's how it goesShe's alone
Could have been the undertow
Where it takes her no one knows
That's how it goes, that's how it goesWhen we throw stones at the wounded
When we throw stones at the broken hearted
When we throw stones at the wounded
That's how it goes, that's how it goesThat's how it goes, when we throw stones
When we throw stones at the wounded

That's how it goes, when we throw stones

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/