Grace To Grace

Geddy Lee

A hundred thousand years
A hundred thousand miles of track
A hundred thousand tears
A hundred thousand souls you can't give backWhen the dark subsides and eternity goes by
On the fault line between then and now
When the truth hides and eternity goes by
On the fault line between then and nowGrace to grace
Immaculate vision of what should have been
Face to face
Eloquent story of what could have beenA hundred thousand dreams
A hundred thousand beams of light
A hundred thousand seams
Gods in the Heaven can't get it rightWhen the dark subsides and eternity goes by
On the fault line between then and now
When the truth hides and integrity falls shy
On the fault line between then and nowGrace to grace
Immaculate vision of what should have been
Place to place
Elegant story of what could have beenWhen the truth hides and integrity falls shy
On the fault line between then and now
When the truth hides and eternity goes by
On the fault line between then and nowGrace to grace
Immaculate vision of what should have been
Face to face
Eloquent story of what could have beenGrace to grace
Immaculate vision of what should have been
Grace to grace, grace to grace , grace to graceGrace to grace, grace to grace
Grace to grace, grace to grace

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/