Never Forgotten

Joe Stump

I reached you oh, so very late
Already waiting at the gate
The pictures on the wall, they remind us all that things
Have got to change or else they still remain, it's got to change
You had it all, but it broke your heart
You want it all, right from the start
It's over but never forgotten
It's over
I could not have done anymore
Already walking through the doors
But the pictures on the wall, they remind us all that things
Have got to change or else they still remain, it's got to change
I could not have done anymore
Already walking through the doors
But the pictures on the wall, they remind us all that things
Have got to change or else they still remain, it's got to change
