My Black Days

Doughnuts

In the silence of my black days,
you turned my lies into air.
She said to me if I'll lose
you I have nothing
but now I've realised
what I had was nothing.
Just my black times,
my increasing black times,
my drowning in tears times.

In my deepest escapism I couldn't reach you.
My lies defeated you, to breathe I need you.

In the silence of my black days,
you turned my lies into air.
Should I just have remained silent?
Shouldn't I have spoken with my senses?
Now I have you,
now I have you,
now I have you.
In the silence of my black days,
you turned my lies into air.

In my deepest escapism I couldn't reach you.
My lies defeated you, to breathe I need you.

Lyrics submitted by NewcastleDiseas.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/