Awakenings

Symphony X

Needless to say, another day has passed away
Yet everything, and nothing, has changed
Awake I lie, my thoughts get lost up in the sky
Needless to say, nothing will changeMaybe a mystic with fortunes to tell
Surrender my coin at the old wishing well
Maybe the stars will align in the night
To show me the path that is rightWould've been's and could've been's
They waste my days away
The colors of my life dissolve and fade to graySo many paths of promise
Indecision poisons my mind
If only I had seen the signs so blind
Yet I must journey on, on and onA haunting vision torments me
It smothers and steals my dreams
I see an old man in the mirror
Cold and bitter starring back at meHere I am at the crossing of life I stand
On my own looking down the road hear my cry answer me
Still I'm searching yet the truth is unknown though the night is cold
I walk the road alone

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/