Addicted

Anja Schneider

Just one more kiss I won't write, I won't call you And I'll be gone No more girl, I swear that I'll be strong Just one more taste of you Girl I mean what I say today And I'll be fine But tomorrow I'll know that I was lying How this feeling scares me so Cos baby, oh I only wish you knew And I guess is that's addiction It's just like letting, just like letting go Then I guess that I'm addicted And I guess that I'm your junkie, fair enough And I guess if that's addiction (I'm your junkie) Then I guess that I'm your junkie Girl I can't sleep And I guess that I'm just strung out on your love In these wet sheets And a hunger that's making me weak Cos I've got hot flushes, cold sweats So hit me up All I need is a bag of attention With your best stuff And maybe an ounce of your trust Cos letting go To give my heart to you Is harder than you know I'm tearing out my heart As you walk right out of view [CHORUS] You go through my heart and through my soul Like a river gone out of control It takes my resolve and washes it all away [CHORUS] I'm addicted Don't walk away
