If You're Gone

Sam Thacker

across the water wish you had it back so you could do it all again but now its gone under the blue
the wall that you just can't see through down to the bottom where i lie alone again like always patiently out of the way show me what you believe in cause i've been guessing for so many nights if you're gone say goodbye just don't leave love behind

take what you gave away

by now you've said all the blank words that burdened your head fell from your lips like a landsliding love song to your worst enemy and you
your just the same as you were when you wispered my name under your breath and over it all the echos they ring so loud

cause i've been guessing for so many nights

tell me why you hold on so tight to the things that you said love could never make right

if your gone say goodbye
