Eons

311

Gotta wishing well within
That's ready to begin
See how we roll
See how we rollTrying to compromise
With me there are no lies
See how we run
It's already begunNow that I'm back to a pushing pen
That weighs two hundred tons
I'd like to drop it on you
And watch it all fall throughNobody knows just what You're battling inside
You can hideNobody knows just why
Everyone will lie
If they need toThe ones who aggravate you most
And happen to be ever close
Seem to be the one's lurching
For the same things that you are seachingThe ones that make you feel ill
And you think that nature should have killed
Those you curse when you're alone
Seem to be so close to homeNot an even field to be on
Feels like standing still for eons and eons
Stare it dead in the eye, what now?
All we can do is try to shut it down, shut it downNot an even field to be on
Feels like standing still for eons and eons
Stare it dead in the eye, what now?
All we can do is try to shut it down
