Futile

Porcupine Tree

You were the one that made her cry
You were the one that told her lies
You were the one whose brain moved in circles
Neither an adult or a childNow it only moves you forward
And back to the blackness at the same timeBurnt out tracks, the world went black
Futile Lost my head, the world went red
Futile It's not true, the world went blue
FutileYou were the one collecting space
You were the one just saving face
You were the one whose brain moved in circles
Neither an adult or a childNow it only moves you forward
And back to the blackness at the same timeBurnt out tracks, the world went black
Futile Lost my head, the world went red
Futile It's not true, the world went blue
Futile
