Decks Dark

Radiohead

And in your life, there comes a darkness
There's spacecraft blocking out the sky
And there's nowhere to hide
You run to the back and you cover your ears
But it's the loudest sound you've ever heard
And are we trapped ragdoll clothes people?
We are helpless to resist
Into our darkest hourBut it was just a laugh, just a lie
Just a lie, just a laugh
Even at this angle
And so we crumble
To turn heads, you know where it's at
This dread still covers us
You gotta be kidding me
The grass grows over me
Your face in the glass, in the glass
It was just a laugh, just a laugh
It's whatever you say it is Split infinityAnd in your life, there comes a darkness
And a spacecraft blocking out the sky
And there's nowhere to hide
You run to the back and you cover your ears
It's the loudest sound you've ever heard
In your darkest hourWhen you had enough of me
When you had enough of me
Sweet time
When you had enough of me
When you had enough of me
Sweet time
Sweet time
Sweet time

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/