Forever and A Day

Jeff Jacobs

There's a motor in the distance
As you run in from the rain
Drenched from head to toe, two hours latePlease don't go into a story
Won't make anything okay
Though you hide it well, it's written on your faceBut you know I'd sell my world
I'd sell my breath
I'd sell my soul
I'd sell my body
For another night with youOh and you can take my world
Can take my breath
Can take my soul
Take all my money
For a lover who is trueTwist the bottle and unscrew
That lover isn't you...Oh, and here I am
I'm a lonely man
I'm forever and a dayI'm a forest fire
So full of desire
And it months it hasn't rainedYou've been flying high
With another guy
And you can't just walk awayAre you listening?
Are you're listening?
Today...Your eyes are two way mirrors
And your lips are crystal balls
And your secret's not so secret after allBecause if true love is a fable
You give only what you takeWell then lover, I've got nothing left to say
Well then lover, I'll be heading on my wayBut you know I'd sell my world
I'd sell my breath
I'd sell my soul
I'd sell my body
For another night with youOh and you can take my world
Can take my breath
Can take my soul
Take all my money
For a lover who is trueTwist the bottle and unscrew
That lover isn't you...Oh, and here I am
I'm a lonely man
I'm forever and a dayI'm a forest fire
So full of desire
And it months it hasn't rainedYou've been flying high

With another guy
And you can't just walk awayAre you listening?
Are you're listening?
Today...Are you listening?
Hope you're listening
Today...Today...But you know I'd sell my world
I'd sell my breath
I'd sell my soul
I'd sell my body
For a lover who is true...

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/