What I've Done Right

Katie Thompson

Is this what forever feels like?
Warm and laid in your arms?
Is this what they meant by a dream come true?
Or lighthouse that see in the dark?

When you're asleep and the candle's lit,
I am thinking in all of my life -
This is, this is what I've done right.

I fall asleep with the vision,
Of the smiles you gave me that day.
I toss and turn while I'm dreaming of you,
Teasing our two kids while they play.

And late at night, if it's been a rough day,
I remember in all of my life -
This is, this is what I've done right.

I can write a few songs,
I can always keep trying to outdo my best.
But then you came along and exceeded the limit to my happiness.
And now I confess,
That if this is forever with you,
I'll simply have to aim high.
And if I fail all the time,
Just know that the standard you set is so high.

And late at night if I've done something wrong,
Just remember in all of my life -
This is, this is what I've done -
This is, this is what I've done -
You are, you are what I've done right
