Through Every Storm

Janet Paschal

Impossible to go through life without some hurt, some pain
And you can't live in sunshine always, sometimes it rains But God knew every step you'd take each valley you'd go through and He chose long ago to walk with you

Through every storm
God will somehow take you safely without harm though at times you may feel frightened and alarmed Through every storm
those nights that you'll spend waiting for the sun
And when you feel your strength is gone, He'll come
And carry you through every storm

I know you know yourself so well, with all your weaknesses inside And you can't see how you could ever face a lonely night but don't you understand your strength is never quite enough My God's gonna have to help you do it I know he'll see you

Through every storm
God will prove Himself time and time again
And when your efforts aren't enough He'll take over then Through every storm
those nights that you'll spend waiting for the sun
And when you feel your strength is gone, He'll come
And carry you through every storm.

And when you feel your strength is gone, He'll come
And carry you through every storm.

Lyrics submitted by Petra Kielman.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/