Lullabye

The Coasts

Twenty miles too fast
Acceleration on the gas
While she wakes up to the glass (eh yeah)
Reaches out for her baby (oh oh oh uh)
She reaches out for her baby (mm hm)
The sun wakes up the birds are singing
She wakes up to the day
The skies are clear
New life appears
And all she sees is the rain
Everyday is the same
Cigarettes all stamped on the desk
And Empty bottles on the ground
A baby picture on the fridge
Of Katie reaching for a cup
All she knew about was love

2001 to 2005 always remembered by her beautiful smile
Katie tattooed on her arm her mamas gotta live on Lullaby

Memories of the walks down to the parks
And drawing flowers on the pavement
And sharing double scooped ice-cream
Her favorite flavor was strawberry (yeah yeah)
An empty swing, an empty yard, and empty play house
Her only joy is now gone
And now she's left all alone

2001 to 2005 always remembered by her beautiful smile
Katie tattooed on her arm now mamas gotta live on
Lullaby, lullaby

Flash backs to the past
And 30 miles too fast
Acceleration on the gas
While she, She wakes up to the glass
A shattered mirror of the past
She reaches for her baby
Reaches out for her baby

Starts getting takes her hand
Takes her hand this time
Heaven, in heaven

1976 to 2005 always remembered by her beautiful smile
Sarah tattooed on her arm now mamas gotta live on
Lullaby, Lullaby

2001 to 2005 always remembered by her beautiful smile
Katie tattooed on her arm now mamas gotta live on
Lullaby, Lullaby

1976 to 2005 always remembered by her beautiful smile
Sarah tattooed on her arm now mamas gotta live on
Lullaby, Lullaby

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by Nozuka, Justin Lyrics Â© EMI Music Publishing

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/