Try To Hang On

Pavlov's Dog

Why try to hang on
When you know that for sure that she's gone
You know, why even try when she goes away?You let yourself go
And you know it's beginning to show
You know, why even try when she goes away?It's all in the cards
And you know that you're losing the odds
Others say you're just lucky yourself
To just be alive
And now it seems now in time
And this plan comes into your mind
How to get your girl back
Even at the cost of some timeEven at the cost of some time
And now Even at the cost of some timeDo you think that it's worth it
Would you break in a cold sweat
And if you put yourself clear
Don't let them put you awayAnd if there is no use in crying
What good would it do to be lying
If you get your girl back
Don't let them put you away
Now you'd better hang on... I know
And get your girl back
You'd better hang on etc.
