Will

Sense Field

Some will say, take cover
And some will say, take care
Some will call you overSome will call you out
To show you their nightmares
But there are dreams
To fill your heart with certaintyThere's giving somewhere, I believe
There's meaning somewhere here
There's sweetness somewhere here
There is freedom here we'll just have to findThe innocence of a little boy
Who accepts nothing less
Than a miracleIt will never, no, never leave you
It will always, always be with you
It will never, no, never leave you
It will always be with you all through your lifeIt will be hard to see
It will be hard to know
It will be hard to tellBut you'll be given guides
And skies without storms
'Cause there are songs
To fill your heart with simplicityThere's healing everywhere, I still believe
There's sharing everywhere
There's beauty everywhere, hereThere's happiness here we'll just have to find Gentleness of a little girl
Who accepts nothing less
Than a miracleIt will always and always be with you
It will always and always be with you
It will never, no, never leave you
It will always be with you all through your lifeIt will always and always be with you
No, never, no, never leave you
It will always and always be with you
It will always be with you all through your lifeIt will always and always be with you
It will always and always be with you
It will never and no, never leave you
It will always be with you all through your life
