Doesn't Matter Anyway

Skarlett

Now I'm back to the place where it all began, when there's love in my heart and my head starts to spin, but seeing as you're so stuck up, I'm guessing that it's just my luck.Now there's not a million other boys just like me that would take you away and make you feel complete.
I'm proof that dedication runs real deep, even when love starts to run away from me.And I'm trying so hard to give you a smile, hoping you'd ask me to stay for a while.
every little word yeah, every little word I say, it doesn't matter anyway.Yeah she tells me she doesn't need a boy.
she wants to keep it simple; she doesn't wanna end up like somebodies toy, but two days later she has a guy,
and I know he probably loves her oh but for her, he would die.
I can't believe this girl!And I'm trying so hard to give you a smile,
hoping you'd ask me to stay for a while.
Every little word yeah, every little word I say,
it doesn't matter anyway.She doesn't care at all.
She doesn't care at all!
She never answered my call when I asked her if she would break my fall.
She doesn't care at all!
She doesn't care at all!And I'm trying so hard to give you a smile,
hoping you'd ask me to stay for a while.
Every little word yeah, every little word I say,
it doesn't matter anyway.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/