It's Not Over

Five Times August

Tell me every story of the heart
Dont disappoint, you know just where to start
So many times the song thats sung
You know it goes somewhere where you belongAnd you might feel the complication
And disappoint with aggravation
But settle down theres always home
You can never be somewhere where youre aloneSo take a deep breath and let it go
Its about time that you should know
Theres no point in hanging onShe is flying out that door, he is dying for some more
And theyre calling out to you
Did you ever think love could make it through?
The things you do come around so its not over nowSo you might fall and never stand
Or you could fly and never land
And you might feel your soul is broken
If you leave it unspoken you wont understandSo take a deep breath and turn around
Theres a brighter side if youre turned down
Theres no point in hanging onShe is flying out that door, he is dying for some more
And theyre calling out to you
Did you ever think love could make it through?
The things you do come around so its not over nowShe is flying out that door, he is dying for some more
And theyre calling out to you
Did you ever think love could make it through?
The things you do come around so its not over now

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/