Thrown Away

Butcher Babies

Somewhere out in space I've lost myself, I've been misplaced
Somehow I've been thrown away
I've grown allergic to an image, fractured by an idea
My brain is full of rot and disease
I've been thrown awayLet's make believe that these walls could see They'd open up and they'd welcome me in
But in the end I'd know it's been a dream
Let's make believe that these shadows screamed
They'd reach out they'd hold on to me
But in the end I'd know it's been a dream
I walk these streets like a phantom limb
I should belong but I don't fit in
I feel I've been thrown away
I've tried to make myself better, tried every pill
I will burn everything when I feel threatened
I fear in empty space
Slow down, please don't throw me away
With each step towards regret I know I've done it to myself
Slow down, don't forget me
I've tried to push the blame but I've done it to myself
