Landmines

The Action Design

Trying to pretend its perfect wish that I could run away and hide in someone else's life
Feel like I'm 5 and helpless
Like a child left alone
Crying through the night
And when you yell at me
I get scared of you
All I want is to be close to you
I wish I could tell you the way I feel
But I can't break through
I don't wanna talk about it
I don't say another word
I've already said too much
Cause you just never seem to get it
Do you even care how much it hurts?
To hate the one you love
And I'm just waiting for the day when I, when I don't have to tip toe through the landmines
So afraid if I say the wrong thing
That your gonna blow up at me
Till I crumble to the ground
Finally I'm getting stronger
And if I have to walk away,
I will, And I won't turn around
If you saw my tears,
would you look away?
Hold me close?

Would you beg to stay?
If I fall apart,
and let you see inside?
Would you tell me its alright?
I don't wanna talk about it
I don't say another word
I've already said too much
Cause you just never seem to get it
Do you even care how much it hurts?

To hate the one you love
And I'm just waiting for the day when I, I don't have to
tip toe through the landmines
How can I be so conflicted?
Your the light and the darkness in my heart
You'll always have a place inside it
How can loving you be so hard?
Just want it to be ok
Someday, Someday....
I don't wanna talk about it
I don't say another word
I've already said too much
Cause you just never seem to get it
Do you even care how much it hurts?
To hate the one you love
And I'm just waiting for the day when I, can finally leave all this hurt behind
So I don't have to tip toe through the landmines
I don't have to tip toe through the landmines
tip toe through the landmines
