The Great Test

Hundred Reasons

You failed the first great test
And time waits for no man
Would you try to digest?
Make your standForgone, forget the lecture
So long, when did you make your choice?
Stay calm take a hold of yourself
And wound the others with your false denialWhen your calls appreciate
You work against the other man
And when all you do is take
And don't thankForgone, forget the lecture
So long, when did you make your choice?
Stay calm take a hold of yourself
And wound the others with your false denialYou'd release the burden if you gave up and left
You'd release the burden if you gave up and left
You'd release the burden if you gave up and left
You'd release the burdenYou'd release the burden if you gave up and left
You'd release the burden if you gave up and left
You'd release the burden if you gave up and left
You'd release the burden if you gave up and left

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/