Burned Out

3rd Moon

Stick around to see the ugly look on my face
You always come around
When my will is broken and I can barely stand on my two feet
Was it something, I said
That you can't forget but you know it's something you need
To make it all work out
But the fact still remains that you can never take back what you say
But I take back everything
I feel so empty, why'd you do this now?
When all the color left in my face is fadin' out
I won't ride that evil suicide wave
No matter what you hear me say
So why does it feel like the sun is just burned out?
So why does it feel everyone's waiting for us
To crumble and just break down?
Where's that helping hand that you pull away
Everything I'm in the back of the line

If I start to fall out on the last mile
Wash the blood off my face
I feel so empty, why'd you do this now?
The viscous circle of life, tears me up all inside
So why does it feel like the sun is just burned out?
And why does it feel everyone's waiting for us
To crumble and just break down?
So why does it feel like the sun is just burned out?
And why does it feel everyone's waiting for us
To crumble and just break down?
So why does it feel like the sun is just burned out?
And why does it feel everyone's waiting for us
To crumble and just break down?
Crumble and just break down
