Little Ones

The Tony Rich Project

Little boy, little girl
God is on your side
He is your healer
God is on your sideYes, he knew her
'Cause she told him things that man had done to her
So he figured
That she's reluctant to tell her folks the truthShe was afraid
To tell mother of such things
'Cause she would say
"You know you're wrong, little girl"Little boy, little girl
God is on your side, alrightIt's good that she knew him
For without her by his side he would have fled
He sees objects
That are ever small but so large in his eyesHe has a thing
About what people think of him
It seems so bad
It's not so hard, little boyHow could you be wrong, little girl?Follow, follow the yellow brick road
Until you come on to the rock of peace
Pick up your notion to find the harvest of life
To heal your woundsHe'll find you peace, little boy
He will protect you, little girl
He'll never leave you, little onesLittle ones
Very little onesSo this story goes
On into a high dimensions
Where for you
He'll find you peace, little ones
