Painting

Melan!

The world you painted was new
The colors were so alive
Took a lie and made it true
A final touch and then right into the painting you diveIt's ok if you break
You'll see colors again
This is more than you can take
You'll see colors again
It's your life that's at stake
You'll see colors again
Don't you think it's my time, anytime soonWhenever did it all happen
That one color after another seems to fade
Now the sky is carved with a coalpen
It's all gray despite the effort you madeHow do you like your God now
Now that he is you
Does he feel dead somehow
And where does that leave youIt's ok if you break...
