Northern Town

Steve Payne

Now she's gone without a sign without a warning
The voice of anybody else is on the answering machine
The story's ending
You have to do it by yourself - tonight
So many years have passed
You shared so many hours
Expensive ones - You've never cared
And now she's gone without goodbye
She's left no number
Like anyone from anywhere - oh boy

Are you lonely
Did she hurt you
In this Northern Town
Ain't nobody
To console you
She used get you down
All your longings she returned
She's lit the candle of love and passion in your heart
But now you're forced again to dial another number
You should have known it from the start - oh boy
Are you lonely
Ain't nobody in this northern town sallysally@usa.net

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/