All Good People

Nerina Pallot

Hey, was there something that you wanted to say?
I don't know what to do when you look that way
Cigarettes and tequila at 6
And the sun going down on our life as it isIn the blue light, oh, your face, it looks so pale
In the blue light, oh, I can tell what you're gonna sayBut all good people have a sense of themselves
They never worry, they know what tomorrow will bring
And all good people know the world is okay
Why should we worry when we can do anythingI heard that story how you never went back
What your mouth will not say, your eyes do for you
A paper flower and her pill in your drawer
And her ghost at the bar drinks tequila tooIn the blue light, could we put this one to bed?
In the blue light, oh, will you think of me instead?'Cause all good people have a sense of themselves
They never worry, they know what tomorrow will bring
And all good people know the world is okay
Why should we worry when we can do anythingIn the blue light, oh, your face, it looks so pale
In the blue light, oh, I can tell what you're gonna say'Cause all good people have a sense of themselves
They never worry, they know what tomorrow will bring
And all good people know the world is okay
Why should we worry when we can do anythingAll good people have a sense of themselves
They never worry, they know what tomorrow will bring
And all good people know the world is okay
Why should we worry when we can do anythingAll good people
All good people know good people
All good people know good people
All good people know good peopleAll good people know good people
All good people know good people
All good people know good people
