Good Bye. For Good

Well Planned Attack

Today you're gone telling me you need some time alone, telling me the same old story where I was wrong, where I didn't meet your needs at all, but I know your needs are soiledTomorrow you'll regret every single moment,
wishing for the worst we ever hadI'll just let go,
tomorrow will be better here without you,
so you can lock your door,
turn off your phone, tomorrow I'll be better here on my ownYou wanted more and forgot what you already owned, you forgot you were my only.
Right now I'm gold, glad I didn't waste a second more trying to fix the things you've brokenTomorrow you'll regret
every single moment,
wishing for the worst we ever hadI'll just let go,
tomorrow will be better here without you,
so you can lock your door,
turn off your phone,
tomorrow I'll be better here on my own
