

Living in a Memory

The Growlers

Your face is clogging up my dream smiling so goddamn tenderly but I know that your heart is artificially sweet and still I can't pull you out of me like a bad bone that a good son can't forget (?) guess its been too long since you ravaged through my head well this is unfair there's a girl who loves me get out of my head and let me love free hell I know that your no good for me there ain't no grown man that should be living in a memory gotta set myself free slow down my thoughts and let my heart free Your face is clogging up my dream
smiling so goddamn tenderly
but hell I know this ain't no good for me
there ain't no grown man that should be living in a memory memories of making love stronger than drugs memories of all the sweet things we said help me forget her eclipse my heart with yours help me remember the life worth loving for hell I know that this ain't no good for me there ain't no grown man that should be living in a memory
but hell I know this ain't no good for me there ain't no grown man that should be living in a memory, living in a memory in love with a memory, memory set me free, in love with a memory

Lyrics submitted by emily bell.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>