Arcadia

The Nova Echo

did you know that my world it revolves around you and I don't need the sun if the dream is of you if you can't hear my voice through the distance in time look for might sign above when you stare at the sky there's a distance in your new life a sad disconnection with the hindsight it's a stale reflection of a past life are you scared, do you fear who you've been or is it who you'll be come with me I'll show you a distant light from another world and you'll feel the calling now and we can go beyond the clouds in stars we can stay in the sky tonight and we can be the new jet stream of a life on the other side so follow me, back to where we began

did you know that my world it revolves around you
and I don't need the sun if the dream is of you
if you can't hear my voice through the distance in time
look for might sign above when you stare at the sky and it feels like a dream when the sun breaks through clouds and the heavens sing out and I fall into your eyes

come with me I'll show you a distant light from another world
and you'll feel the calling now

and we can go beyond the clouds

in stars we can stay in the sky tonight

so follow me, back to where we began

Lyrics submitted by Kayce.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/