Something Beautiful

This is a song for anyone who's ever been
Knocked down, can't get back again
Stuck in the corner, can't move forward
All alone and you think you're going nowhereThis is a song for anyone who's ever stood
Underneath the sun and felt so small
Two feet tall and so out of placeHe sees you
He knows you, He loves you
And He wants you to know thatThe life you've been livin'
The days that you've been givin'
Were made for something beautiful
Life, don't let it pass you by
Because you were created
For something beautifulHeaven holds a dream that's just for you
And there are things only you can do
So step by faith, put the past away
It'll take you to a better daySecond to minute to hour to life
Time always seem to fly
It's on the go and before you know
Your days are throughBut He sees you
He knows you, He loves you
And He wants you to know thatThe life you've been livin'
The days that you've been givin'
Were made for something beautiful
Life, don't let it pass you by
Because you were created
For something beautifulWhat are you waiting for?
What are you waiting for?
What are you waiting for?
There's something beautifulWhat are you waiting for?
What are you waiting for?
What are you waiting for?
Something beautifulThe life you've been livin'

The days that you've been givin'
Were made for something beautiful
Life, don't let it pass you by
Because you were created
For something beautifulThe life you've been livin'
The days that you've been givin'
Were made for something beautiful
Life, don't let it pass you by
Because you were created
For something beautifulWhat are you waiting for?
What are you waiting for?
What are you waiting for?
There's something beautifulWhat are you waiting for?
What are you waiting for?
What are you waiting for?
Something beautiful
