Losing Johnny

Distorted Penguins

Ain't it like a woman to always try to take control
It's been going on forever, even in the Rock and Roll
Yoko was the raddest chick that Johnny had seen yet
But the Beatles would be better off if the two had never met.Just after that fateful day, things would never be the same
Yoko thought that she should have a say in everything
I want to write I want to sing, but then at what cost?
It was just a matter of time, before we have to just deal with the loss.Yoko Ono killed the Beatles and I've got something to say about it Could've been the greatest band the world has ever known
So I try to think about it could this have been prevented?
As great as it was, I guess nothing lasts forever,
Now we'll have to just deal with the loss.Ain't it just like a woman to always want to take control
It's been going on so long, especially in the Rock and Roll Johnny was the raddest dude that Yoko had seen yet
But the whole world would be better off if the two had never met.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/