What Ever Happened

Clint Black

Snow up on the mountains sun layn' low across the clouded sky ive been feeding this fire for so long the flame is gone i could second guess the storm tell my heart to leave the warm but ill just stay inside theres no way that ill take any chances of my own what if i get it wrong Another season come and gone Robin hardly sang her song for too few summer skies All the tourists barely even said goodbye back again now there's lovers all around The sun might as well lay down i dont need the light it wont be my eyes that tell me if they found fair weather friendsWhat ever happened to the change of seasons what ever happened to all my reasons to open up my heart and let it be what ever happened to falling in love what ever happened to meSun up on the mountains somebody said it happened yesterday but i guess i cant remember back that far was not all there but the sky was probably blue doesn't matter when to view depends on where you are what kind of heart you might be looking through Oh and if you care, tell meWhat ever happened to the change of seasons what ever happened to all my reasons
what ever happened to me eeeeWhat ever happened to the change of seasons what ever happened to all my reasons
to open up my heart and let it be what ever happened to falling in loveWhat ever happened to the change of seasons what ever happened to aaall my reasons Oooh just let it be

what ever happened to meDoes anyone remember me?
what ever happened to me
