Colossal Rains

Paradise Lost

Into a depth of haze, I'll see you dead
The colossal rains flow like the breezeA sheltered scenery as the arms outstretch for meYou'll never walk again (in a sorry sea of pale sound uplifting here, dark waters flow free through archways of silent dreams)Brought back from centuries, creations seen the colossal rains mortal spirits drainedCan this be real, what the frozen rains revealYou'll never walk again (hear cries, way out of reach and shallow the silver breathes, the sun wakes the sleeping heat, and drowns in a mess disease)
