The Art Of Letting Go

Mikaila

Put away the pictures.
Put away the memories.
I put over and over
Through my tears
I've held them till I'm blind
They kept my hope alive
As if somehow that I'd keep you here
Once you believed in a love forever more?
How do you leave it in a drawer?Now here it comes, the hardest part of all
Unchain my heart that's holding on
How do I start to live my life alone?
Guess I'm just learning,
Learning the art of letting go.Try to say it's over
Say the word goodbye.
But each time it catches in my throat
Your still here in me
And I can't set you free
So I hold on to what I wanted most Maybe someday we'll be friend's forever more
Wish I could open up that doorNow here it comes, the hardest part of all Unchain my heart that's holding on
How do I start to live my life alone?
Guess I'm just learning,
Learning the art of letting goWatching us fade
What can I do?
But try to make it through the pain of one more day
Without youWhere do I start, to live my life alone?
I guess I'm learning, only learning,
Learning the art of letting go.
