Resounding

Say Anything

If I could take one thing back I would write
The perfect song for you
You would have never left
And if the chords progress
The way I mapped them out
They will wipe your tears away
And all your doubtsCause it's always been for you
Every mountain scaled for youAnd every single day I'm falling down
I never want to say you're mine right now
A tear rolls down your cheek
And hits the ground
I'm falling down (Lets go)You sit alone inside your room and rust
You give your trust to those who don't deserve your trust
You put yourself through hell
As you sweat pound for pound
But as the drama fades
Tell me what will resoundIts always been for you
I sing every song for youAnd every single day I'm falling down
I never want to say you're mine right now
A tear rolls down your cheek
And hits the ground
I'm falling down....
I'm falling downCould you stay forever and a day
Together come what may
If only I could say what I'm thinking babyAnd every single day I'm falling down
I never want to say you're mine right now
A tear rolls down your cheek
And hits the ground
I'm falling downAnd every single day I'm falling down
I never want to say you're mine right now
If only I could finally face the truth
I have always loved you loved you...
Loved youThanks to punkforlife for these lyrics

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/