Where I'm Coming From

Polly Paulusma

We shouldnt be alone in this place, its a big mistake
What the hell we doing together?
Dont tell me its a risk we take
My whole bodys shaking like a leaf in stormy weatherLook up the clouds are rolling
And waves of soldiers marching to the broken beats of my drum
Look down the waves are crashing in and the waters rising
Going to cover up the sin weve doneRight here, right now, I dont know how
We kept it down for so long
Right here, right now, I dont know how
To tell whats right from what is wrongAnd I dont know how I got here
And I dont know where Im coming form
Where Im coming fromYour fingertips are laced with gold
Theres a honey magic to the way we stick together
And one ripple form your mouth can hold up the traffic
Making easisly second last foreverRight here, right now, I dont know how
We kept it down for so long?
Right here, right now, I dont know how
To tell whats right from what is wrong?I dont know how I got here
And I dont know where Im coming from
Where Im coming from
Where Im goingRight here, right now, I dont care how
Just let these shackles come undone
Right here, right now, I dont know how
To act like nothings going onI dont know where were going
I dont know where Im coming form
Where Im coming fromWe shouldnt be alone in this place, its a big mistake
What the hell we doing together?
And youll never know how close we came
As a pair like case and see
See you later
