Asteroid Dominion

Armageddon

we are all in a state of mourning grieving the ones who did not survive we perform a ceremony for dead as their caskets float away into space but we know we've got to keep going pushing forward into dark universe on a mission to rescue our race secure the future of our kindasteroid dominion the star or our fantasies and dreams asteroid dominion
shining so bright asteroid dominionevrything is a circle constantly moving ahead somewhere out there we will find our own utopia a new for future generations legends in our own lifetime a fresh start without degeneration a brave new worldunto a land flowing with milk and honey beyond the known universe in a hidden galaxy, a sacred sanctum for you and me i'm praying for a peaceful existence as unlikely as that may seem tell me what good is man... without his dreams?
