Fear Of Wasted Time

Court Yard Hounds

You know me well
I can't sit still
I was raising Cain
Now I'm raising babies
Time might pass me by
If I close my eyes
So I'm on the next plane leaving town
I'll be gone tonight
And you ask why I do it that way
It's just the fear of wasted time
The fear of wasted time
That's why
I hold my babies tight
Sneak into their beds at night
I'll just stay and watch them breathing
Next thing I know the alarm clock's ringing
I watch every frame

Of this life I've made
Take a picture but I miss the moment now
Looking in their eyes
And you ask why I do it that way
It's just the fear of wasted time
The fear of wasted time
That's why
The feeling's very strange
I'm waiting for the pain
And happiness can terrify me now
It could be good bye
And you ask why I'm that way
It's just the fear of wasted time
The fear of wasted time
That's why, that's why
That's why, that's why
