Isn't It Amazing

The Crests

Shadows of the past are here again
Bittersweet intentions
Like sunshine in the rain
Secrets still suggested in each step
But there?s mercy in the echoes
For all the tears I?ve wept
And every time I?ve brushed
Or fallen on my broken pieces I?ve locked inside
Isn?t it Amazing
That the dawn arrives each day
To sweep across the Darkness
With a hope that finds a way
Isn?t it Amazing
When every mountain seems so tall
That here I am another day taking on the mystery of it all
So many times I?ve climbed up on a wall
Just to dwell amongst its ruins
Aching from the fall
Lost within the openness of life

Confound beneath its riches
Courted by its heights
The dark and white in life collide
And grace that I don?t understand is here by my side
Isn?t it Amazing
That the dawn arrives each day
To sweep across the Darkness
With a hope that finds a way
Isn?t it Amazing
When every mountain seems so tall
That here I am another day taking on the mystery of it all
Every moment
All that every day gives
It all comes to this
That love is to live
Another day another day
Another step it?s so amazing (Isn?t it amazing)
I?m here today
My heart can say

Another day is so Amazing
