Judgement Day

You made your getaway so clean, you don't even see the one you're mutating,I once believed, you left because you saw something wrong in me.So many years I've been searching looking for where I went wrong,I would wait so long, for you to return to me,will you come home ? I would wait so long, did I push you away,where did I go wrong ?I became the beast for a time I sought solace in sorecery, the she came to me, and I could see I'm not a devil...my blood is clean.So many years I've been searching, looking for where I belong,but lately the masks have been turning, cause I'm not the one who is wrong.I will wait no more, your wounds won't define me,
I have come home,I will wait no more, your wounds won't define me,
I have come home,walk away, abandon me, but nothing will, disable me
