Beauty in the Broken

Hyland

Looking at your pain an inch away
It's hard to see the plot
Wonder if your story's gonna change
And you don't know you're
Too close to find the hope, the light
Don't know just what you are breaking
I know that you wanna let go

But let me hold you through it
Let me carry you
I know it feels you're at the end
But here your story's just beginning
I know your tomorrow
I know where you are
Though you can't see past the moment
I see beauty in the broken
I see beauty in the broken

Looking at your life from where I am
I promise you that
All your dreams and all your greatest plans
They don't compare to
My hope for you, my love can do
Way more than you can imagine
I know that you wanna let go

Let me hold you through it
Let me carry you
I know it feels you're at the end
But here your story's just beginning
I know your tomorrow
I know where you are
Though you can't see past the moment
I see beauty in the broken

So let the pieces of your heart fall into my arms
I wanna be your hope, so won't you let me
So let the pieces of your heart fall into my arms
I want to be your hope, so won't you

Let me hold you through it
Let me carry you
I know it feels you're at the end
But here your story's just beginning
I know your tomorrow
I know where you are
Though you can't see past the moment
I see beauty in the broken

My hope for you, my love can do
Way more than you can imagine
(I will carry you)
I see beauty in the broken
