Cold Comfort

The Fling

I've been in the cold, can't seem to find any sense of relief
Only the comfort of everything you left behind
Time just won't allow me to step back and relive anything
When you could call me your own and I could call you mine
How do you know which way you ought to go?
I've traveled alone only to end up where I am Stuck here in this lonely state of mind
Day rolls into night, somehow you find your way into my head
Only in my thoughts, you leave me dry
How do you know which way you ought to go?
How do you know which way you ought to go?
electric guitar solo
How do you know which way you ought to go?
How do you know which way you ought to go?
How do you know which way you ought to go?
instrumentals
x9 Hooohooh

Lyrics Submitted by Me

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/