Out Of Time

Hundred Reasons

So here you are, my friend
I've been expecting you and now you're here
You took so long to drive from wherever Back into my life and
You are the one that I had left behind
You are the part of me that I denied
You are the harmony I lived without
And now you're here
You could've made it harder
You could've left it longer, longer
So now we're back again
Some would say to us it's always been Hard to find, hard to find
Out of time, out of time and
You are the one that I had left behind
You are the part of me that I denied
You are the harmony I lived without
And now you're here
You could've made it harder
You could've left it longer, longer, longer
So there you stood, open arms
Waiting for me to lean into
So there you stood, open arms
Waiting for me to lean into
So there you stood, open arms
Waiting for me to lean into
So there you stood open arms
Waiting for me to lean into
You could've made it harder
You could've left it longer, longer, longer

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/