Sometimes

Samantha Cole

I promised I'd never deny myself the chance
To feel the warmth of love and it's sweet romance
And I promised I would never find myself this way
Hurt by love, by loveSo tell me what this is all about
Your sudden change and sudden doubt
Baby, I gave you everything I had
Everything you asked of me and more and moreAnd there are sometimes, maybe often times
I sit here all alone wishing you were home with me
And there's sometimes, often in my mind
That I wish you'd stay away
'Cause I can't take the pain you bring me sometimesYou told me that you'd never loved this way before
And that nobody ever gave you what you were looking for
And you told me that no one would ever take my place
Beside you, here beside youSo tell me what this love's all about
'Cause your changing ways I could do without
Baby, I gave you everything I had
Everything you asked of me and more and moreAnd there are sometimes, maybe often times
When I sit here all alone wishing you were home with me
There's sometimes, often in my mind
I wish you'd stay away
'Cause I can't take the pain you bring me sometimesI should have known that this just wouldn't be forever
I feel sometimes I just don't give a damn about it
And I feel that I just can't go onAnd there are sometimes, maybe often times
When I sit here all alone wishing you were home with me
And there's sometimes, often in my mind
That I wish you'd stay away
I can't take the pain you bring me sometimesMaybe often times
I sit here all alone wishing you were home with me
And there's sometimes, often in my mind
I wish you'd stay away 'cause I can't take the pain sometimes
