Hug Me

Tom Bombadeal

You hold me close, naked, I don't feel a thing
Your zipper's all but cherry but I don't feel anything
Your mind is stranded down, I'm closing you in my arms
And not grow overweight and plastic any day
Hug me 'til you drug me, honey hug me, anyway
Your eyes are dusty dirt porn magazines
You're lazy, selfish but you were raised that way
It's a hole that he was bred, I'll take your pants, you take my hair
Let us dance and choose the happy and depressed
Hug me 'til you drug me, honey, hug me
Drug me 'til you love me, honey, hug me
Wait, wait
I swear I've seen that face somewhere
It's very face I fell for in the human race
I can't lie, I was brainwashed to be honest
In this brave new world that slowly passes by
I'm just a girl learning to act as planned
I was programmed to be Catholic but I ran
I changed my race, I changed my name
I prayed to them, please, what is brave
I am loyal because I was simply raised that way
Hug me 'til you drug me, honey, hug me
Hug me 'til you suffocate me, hug me

Wait, wait
I swear I've seen that face somewhere
It's very face I fell for in the human race
I can't lie, I was brainwashed to be honest
In this brave new world that slowly passes by
By the way, I never liked your hands on me
Never liked your ideas of what is beautiful or really truly holy
I must say you've thrown your apathy away
Go back into your diapers will you die first before you admit the truth
Wait, wait
I swear I've seen that face somewhere
It's very face I fell for in the human race
I can't lie, I was brainwashed to be honest
In this brave new world that slowly passes by
I can't lie, I was brainwashed to be honest

In this brave new world that slowly passes by
I can't lie, I was brainwashed to be honest
In this brave new world that slowly passes by
Wait, wait
I swear I've seen that face somewhere
It's very face I fell for in the human race
I can't lie, I was brainwashed to be honest
In this brave new world that slowly passes by
