One Is Such A Lonely Number

Roxette

I never knew when you walked in the room
I sold my soul to a stranger, an angel face, yeah
I never had this kind of sight before
This kind of vision white, hang on tight, yeah
I don't know, girl, you've been around
Don't you go, don't you let me down
One is such a lonely number to make the world go round
Three is just a little too much to touch, now honey
To make the world go round and round and round
One is such a lonely number
I think about what this has done to me
I'm going back to the start, back to school days
I never had this urge inside of me
To hear the sound of a heart fill the airwaves
There's a love line, it's tied to the ground
Leave you here, never let you down
One is such a lonely number to make the world go round
Three is just a little too much to touch, now honey
To make the world go round and round and round
One is such a lonely number to mend a broken heart
Three is just a little too much to touch, hey honey
To make the world go round and round, and round, and round
There's a love line, it's tied to the ground
Leave you here, never let you down
One is such a lonely number to make the world go round
Three is just a little too much to touch, now honey
To make the world go round and round and round
One is such a lonely number to mend a broken heart
Three is just a little too much to touch, hey honey
To make the world go round and round and round
One is such a lonely number to make the world go round [unverified]
