Light in Your Heart

Martin Page

You had the model touch
I was your secret fool
Through all the wasted words
I'd see you cutting through
Shades drawn tight across this man
I was lip-syncing rhythm, I'd no master planThere's a light in your heart
There's a shadow in the shade of your eyes
There's a place we can go after dark
In between a truth and a lie
And it's lit by the light in your heart
The light in your heartYou had the coolest hand
I began to shake
In and out of doubt
A better world took shape
But if I fall sometime at your feet
Let me dream in your footsteps, walk in your sleepThere's a light in your heart
There's a shadow in the shade of your eyes
There's a place we can go after dark
In between a truth and a lie
And it's lit by the light in your heart
The light in your heartI'm no green light to something better
Just old news when the dust settles down
I'll be no blues, I'll be here for you
Keeping my part togetherAnd it's lit by the light in your heart
There's a light in your heart
There's a shadow in the shade of your eyes
There's a place we can go after dark
In between a truth and a lie
And it's lit by the light in your heart
The light in your heartThe light in your heart
The light in your heart
The light in your heart
The light in your heart
I can see it in the dark, the light in your heart
