I'll Find My Way

The Derek Trucks Band

There comes a time in each man's life
To find your way or fall behind
Who you are is the path you take
And I'll find my way through your mistake
Sometimes your tears are your bridge to the sky
But you can't trust souls with no truth in their eyes
Who you are is the path you take
And I'll find my way through your mistake
Time will heal and all we know
If nothing's learned baby nothing grows
Time will heal and all we know
Everything stays the same nothing changes, nothing changes
A man's not a man when he takes the lower road
Dragging his tail to cover his tracks
When you plant the seeds of doubt in my mind
You know you run the risk of being left behind
When I turn the mirror, I turn it back on myself
I can see your way was a cry for help
Time will heal and all we know
If nothing's learned baby nothing grows
Time will heal for all we know
Everything stays the same nothing changes, nothing changes
There comes a chance in your life
To find your way from behind
Time will heal and all we know
If nothing's learned baby nothing grows
Time will heal for all we know
Everything stays the same nothing changes, nothing changes
Time will heal, time will heal
Time, time, time
Time will heal, time will heal
