

The Voice of My Doctor

Sinead O'Connor

When I opened my eyes in your bedroom
Saw a painting of a bald lady
When I opened my eyes in your bedroom
Saw a woman looked just like me
Kissing gently as only she would
A man made of stone who's crying blood A giant man of stone is crying
A gentle lady rests her face
Her cheek against his, oh so softly
She's just a figure full of grace The voice of my doctor
Keeps interrupting my view
It says "Oh you've gone and let another
Fool make a fool out of you" Oh and I did, I did, oh yes I did
'Cause you never said you have a girl you love
Oh, you tricked me into thinking that you loved me
You tricked me into making love Well I wrote I love you on her shoulder
When I left you last night
I wrote I love you on her shoulder
When I left you last night
Yeah another stupid woman left a little message
Left a little message for your wife. The voice of my doctor
Keeps interrupting my view
It says "Oh you've gone and let another
Fool make a fool out of you" Oh and I did, I did, oh yes I did
'Cause you never said you have a girl you love
Oh, you tricked me into thinking that you loved me
You tricked me into making love

Songwriters

SINEAD MARIE BERNARDE O'CONNOR Published by

Lyrics © NETTWERK MUSIC GROUP

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>