There's Nowhere You Have to Be

Four Letter Language

Let's Go
I know it's been a while since I've talk to you,
Been meaning to pick up my pen and write you.
And I'm sorry I haven't been my self in months!

And Oh, When will I finally listen to the same mistakes that I have made again, And no more feeling sorry for myself there is no right way to relive my life.

How I'm I suppose to feel, when people shot to kill.
I am my worst own critic so how could you hit me better then I do.

It's my life so I don't wanna waste my time, worrying about the people around me when I got better things to do.

And Oh, When will I finally listen to the same mistakes that I have made again, And no more feeling sorry for myself there is no right way to relive my life.

There's Nowhere You Have To Be, And anyone you have to please.
Don't let anyone tell you who you are.

And Oh, When will I finally listen to the same mistakes that I have made again, And no more feeling sorry for myself there is no right way to relive my life.

And Oh, When will I finally listen to the same mistakes that I have made again, And no more feeling sorry for myself there is no right way to relive my life.

And Oh, When will I finally listen to the same mistakes that I have made again, And no more feeling sorry for myself there is no right way to relive my life.

There's Nowhere You Have To Be

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/